Summary

A passionate educator and researcher with over two decades of experience in teaching and academic leadership, dedicated to addressing critical educational challenges related to access, equity, and reform. Holding an MPhil in Educational Leadership and multiple advanced degrees, I have researched educational policy, technology integration, and culturally relevant education. Committed to fostering equitable learning opportunities and driving meaningful change in education systems, with a focus on underprivileged communities. Seeking opportunities to contribute expertise in educational leadership, policy analysis, and academic reform to advance social justice in education.
